

ASAS JMH
130000UTC MAY.2010
SURFACE ANALYSIS

The map displays a complex weather system with a low-pressure center (986 hPa) located near 140°E, 20°N. A cold front extends from the low towards the northwest, and a warm front extends towards the southeast. A tropical disturbance is labeled as a "DEVELOPING LOW" with a central pressure of 986 hPa. The map includes various weather symbols such as clouds, rain, and fog, as well as wind vectors and speed indicators. The map covers the area from approximately 10°N to 30°N and 120°E to 160°E.

ASAS JMH
130000UTC MAY.2010
SURFACE ANALYSIS
JAPAN METEOROLOGICAL AGENCY TOKYO

[illegible]